Relief Maps again

If you want to link (a) an interest in the Civil War which happily seems to stay with people schooled up there on the banks of the Hudson with (b) demonstrated value of relief in maps, I think you would like some sheets of a new Engineer thermo-set series I ran into the other day. AMS series V5OIP, sheets NJ17-3, 17-6, 17-9; NJ18-1, 18-4, 18-7 cover from Cumberland to north/east of Baltimore and down below Petersburg, and even a tyro can see why it was The Valley campaign and why JEB clanked across the Potomac near Dranesville.
